App

- 1) analysis of needs (description), it would be necessary to describe in more detail the functionalities of the future application and the management panel.
- 2) mock-up of the most important views of the application.
- 3) with the above points completed we will be able to give the budget range.
- 4) we propose SCRUM activities - sprints in detail.
- 5) after the implementation of incremental sprints we come to the end of the development phase.
- 6) we publish the application in shops and install any analytical code.
- 7) the last element is the project support and possible development of the application.

Time

- Depending on the results of the analysis and mock-up, we plan to work on such a project for 6 to 12 months.
- Of course these are estimates depending on the complexity of the project.
- Certainly, we have to divide the project into several stages to get the basic version out on the market as soon as possible in order to verify it of all.
